Alder Hey Children's Hospital

Patricia worked with children on the Oncology unit at Alder Hey Children's Hospital to create 2 beautiful Fat Birds, designed by children undergoing treatment at the hospital.

Hope and Joy are the 2 Fat Birds designed by Oliver and Alice. Joy, designed by Alice, was inspired by the visit of HRH Prince William to the hospital. Hope, designed by Oliver, is described as having 'ladders on her back that represent the hurdles you face during your treatment and hearts on her wings that represent the love that people wrap around you when they care for you.'
