Friends of Runcorn Hill – Eddie Lizard

'Eddie' the Lizard was commissioned earlier this year by the charity 'Friends of Runcorn Hill' who are currently pioneering a range of artistic projects in the Runcorn area that aim to bring local residents closer to art and culture whilst creating a sense of pride and ownership across the community.

Explains Val Foot (Chairman, Friends of Runcorn Hill), "Our main objectives are to improve the facilities on Runcorn Hill and help conserve the environment of the local nature reserve through our work with schools and the wider community. We are very proud that The Hill is one of the few sites in the North West of England where the common lizard can be found ...and we wanted to help celebrate this through art. We have also installed basking plates at various locations on the Hill so we're sure Eddie will feel very at home here!"

Patricia also worked with the Park Rangers to facilitate workshops for local schools and the wider community, making small mosaics and painting lizards.
